Animal Control Upgrades May Lead to Possible Delays

FAYETTEVILLE, NC – The Cumberland County Animal Control Department has announced that new software is being installed in their building and vehicles that may lead to temporarily delays.

For the next two weeks as the technology is being implemented, residents are advised of possible delays in the response time of Animal Control Officers. After the new software has been installed and officers have been trained, the new technology will dramatically decrease the amount of time it takes for officers to respond to a call.

For more information, please visit the Animal Control Department section of the county's Web site, www.co.cumberland.nc.us, or call 321-6852.
