State of the County Health Report Released

FAYETTEVILLE, NC - The Cumberland County Department of Public Health has completed and released the State of the County Health (SOTCH) report for 2012. The report provides updates on mortality, morbidity and other county data.

The report also provides progress on the top five health concerns that were identified in the 2010 Community Health Assessment (CHA). Health concerns identified in the SOTCH report include heart disease, obesity, teen pregnancy prevention, cancer and diabetes.

The report is posted at <http://www.co.cumberland.nc.us/health.aspx> under Frequently Requested Information. You can also view a copy of the State of the County Health (SOTCH) Report at the Headquarters Library in the State and Local History Room on the second floor.

For additional information or to comment on the report, please call 433-3890 or 433-3893.

For additional information about the Cumberland County Department of Public Health, please call 910-433-3600 or visit with someone at the information desk. Comments are welcome and can be submitted on our website at www.co.cumberland.nc.us/health/comment_form.aspx. The Health Department is located at 1235 Ramsey St. in Fayetteville.
