Southpoint Boil Water Advisory Lifted

FAYETTEVILLE – The precautionary boil water advisory issued on Wednesday, June 11, for the Southpoint Water System has been cancelled. Test results show the water is safe to drink; however, there may still be a slight discoloration in the water until the lines are completely flushed.

The Cumberland County Public Utilities Division purchases water for the Southpoint system from Bladen County and issued the precautionary boil water advisory when Bladen County serviced the groundwater well filters. The maintenance caused a water outage and drop in pressure, which increased the potential risk of bacteria entering the system that serves 45 customers in western Cumberland County.
