Cumberland 4-H Youth Delegate Attends NCACC

FAYETTEVILLE – Noah Murray, a member of Cumberland County Cooperative Extension’s 4-H Youth Development program, represented the County at the sixth annual North Carolina Association of County Commissioners (NCACC) Youth Summit held Aug. 20-21 in Pitt County during the NCACC annual conference. Murray was honored by the Board of Commissioners at their Nov. 16 regular meeting.

Murray is a 15-year-old freshman at Howard Health and Life Sciences High School. He is the son of Jinaki Burroughs.

The Youth Summit provides county commissioners from across the state the opportunity to connect with the next generation of leaders. The summit offers sessions that help youth gain a better understanding of what county governments do and the role of commissioners as the governing body for counties. Youth delegates are also required to interview a county commissioner or county manager and produce a written or multimedia report.
