Wilson Elected President of N.C. Health Directors Association

FAYETTEVILLE – Cumberland County Health Director Buck Wilson has been elected the president of the North Carolina Association of Local Health Directors for 2015. Wilson has been a member of the association for 13 years and served in several capacities including secretary, treasurer and vice-president.

The association is committed to ensuring the public's health through leadership and commitment to the principles of public health practice throughout the state. Wilson has also served as chairman for several of the association's committees.

“It is my pleasure to lead the association in 2015 as we continue to improve local public health efforts in North Carolina,” said Wilson, who has been the County's health director since 2009 and also serves on the North Carolina Center for Public Health Quality Advisory Board.
