Register of Deeds Donates 800 Book Bags for Homeless Children

FAYETTEVILLE – The Register of Deeds office donated 800 book bags to Cumberland County Schools and the Fayetteville Police Department this morning. The book bags were packed as part of the Register of Deeds' annual school supply drive and will be distributed to homeless school children in Cumberland County by the school system and Fayetteville Police. An additional 200 book bags were packed and will be donated to the American Red Cross to help with families who have experienced a disaster.

Register of Deeds Lee Warren accepted the Fayetteville Police Department Certificate of Appreciation from Police Chief Gina V. Hawkins. The certificate was presented to the Cumberland County Register of Deeds office for its efforts to provide school supplies for homeless children.

Community partners representing businesses and organizations who donated book bags and supplies also attended the dedication ceremony.
