County Appoints New Workforce Development Director

FAYETTEVILLE – Cumberland County Manager Amy Cannon has appointed Nedra Rodriguez as the county’s Director of Workforce Development effective May 29. Rodriguez has been serving as the Workforce Development interim director since January after the resignation of the department’s previous director.

Rodriguez has adeptly stepped into the director’s role and has demonstrated great competency, passion and leadership, said Assistant County Manager Tracy Jackson.

Rodriguez’s professional experience includes more than eight years working as the accountant for the Cumberland County Workforce Development program. Before working for the County, she spent more than nine years working for the City of Fayetteville as a financial/budget analyst. During her time with the city she was promoted to the financial planning manager position

A native of South Dakota, Rodriguez holds a Bachelor of Science degree in accounting and finance from the National University in South Dakota and is currently in the process of completing her Master of Business Administration degree through Webster University at Fort Bragg. She has also completed the finance officer training and coursework at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill School of Government as well as a certification in municipal and county administration.
